

How many people will the project employ?

The I-4 Ultimate reconstruction project is expected to create up to 2,000 jobs during the span of the project, with approximately half expected to be craft workers – many of these will be skilled labor positions including carpenters, equipment and crane operators, pile drivers, concrete finishers, pipe layers and more.

Currently, there are 2099 people working on the project:

SGL craft = 937

SGL salaried / Project professional = 392

Subcontract salaried = 220

Subcontract craft = 550

SGL Constructors Workforce

*November 2017 SGL Constructors craft employees

Are there enough skilled workers in the area?

The majority of our diverse workforce is from the Orlando area and the neighboring communities including career Skanska, Granite and Lane employees who are providing their craft on this project. While the talent pool remains competitive, SGL Constructors has been successful attracting experienced individuals excited to work on this large infrastructure project. Outreach efforts are ongoing to get more people interested in construction work as a career.

SGL Constructors Workforce Diversity

SGL Constructors Workforce Age Demographic

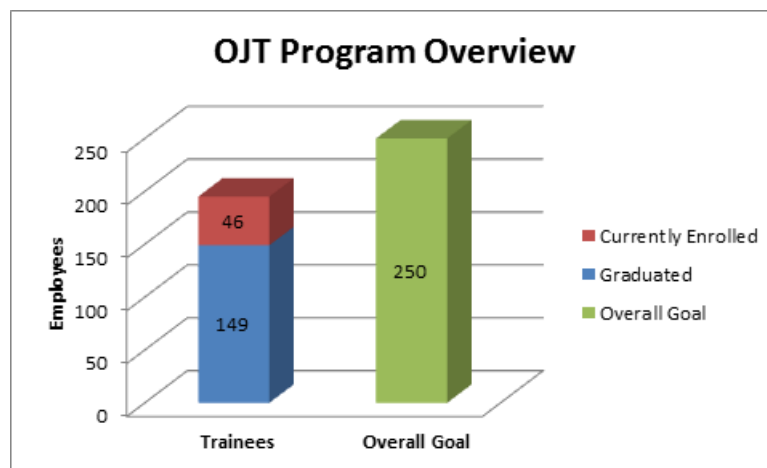

Does SGL provide job training or apprenticeships?

I-4 Ultimate has adopted the Florida Department of Transportation’s on-the-job training program, which offers opportunities to help workers further develop their skills. To date, there are 46 trainees currently participating, with 149 graduates. We expect to have at least 250 graduates in this program by the project’s completion.

At SGL Constructors, we have developed community partnerships with a number of area workforce resources including Career Source Central Florida, City of Orlando Blueprint, Valencia Community College, Goodwill and Central Florida Construction Career Days.

On The Job Training Program Overview

Where do I find out about job openings?

We welcome referrals interested in seeking employment on I-4 Ultimate. The project offers qualified individuals construction career opportunities with competitive pay and benefits. To learn more about job opportunities available:

- Visit us online. You can find descriptions of the positions, specific openings, learn about our hiring process, and find out more about the project at: i4ultimate.com, click on “Project Info” and then “Working on I-4” tab.

- Interested individuals can come to the SGL Constructors Hiring and Training Center located at 409 West Robinson Street Orlando, FL 32801 to learn about job opportunities and complete the application process.